Global Youth Traffic Safety Month

An annual awareness campaign that encourages youth and youth organizations to participate in traffic safety projects in their communities and promotes safe teen driving behavior.

How to Observe Global Youth Traffic Safety Month

1. Spread Awareness

Celebrate the day by spreading awareness. This brings more light to the subject matter.

2. Host a Webinar/ Tell a friend

Host a webinar or spread the word to educate people on what the month is about. This helps to educate people, especially the youth, better on what Global Youth Traffic Safety Month is about.

3. Obey Traffic Laws

Celebrate the day by doing one of the easiest things to do. Obey traffic laws to lower the statistics of traffic-related accidents.

National Bicycle and Motorcycle Awareness Month

The U.S. Department of Transportation's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (N.H.T.S.A.) urges bicyclists and motorists to share the roadways by obeying the traffic laws and respecting each other's rights. The overarching takeaway is to remind the public to put "SAFETY FIRST". As a firm of Transportation Professionals we have a responsibility to our community to apply our knowledge, experience, insight, and energy to maintain and/or improve quality of life. Not just during the month of May but all year long we would like to bring awareness to the safety of all modes of transportation.
